

THE FUTURE OF LEARNING

Think Like a Futurist: Preparing For, Anticipating, and Navigating Change in Education

Make sense of the changing landscape of education, including Artificial Intelligence and other accelerating technologies, curricula and classroom practices, educator roles, and more.

Explore practical mindsets and collaborative tools designed to help educators, school leaders, and district administrators envision a wide range of future possibilities. Learn approaches to prepare for and navigate change and drive innovation in classrooms, schools, and districts.

Whether you're leading a classroom, a school, or an entire district, these tools will empower you to confidently guide your students and communities into the future.

February 6, 2025
8 am - 2:30 pm

The Grappone Center
Concord, NH

$325/participant

- ◆ Trend Scanning: how to spot and make sense of trends and changes
- ◆ Scenario Development: how to generate images of the future
- ◆ Implications Analysis: how to analyze the impacts of change
- ◆ Innovation and Planning: how to design new offerings and adapt plans to prepare for the future

Workshop Facilitator
Jason Swanson

Senior Director, Strategic
Foresight, Knowledgeworks

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER FOR THE FUTURE OF EDUCATION SUMMIT

Jason leads ongoing research into the future of learning and serves as a key contributor to strategic foresight publications and other assets. He also leads KnowledgeWorks' independent strategic foresight engagement practice – designing and delivering many engagements for clients and cultivating and leading client projects. He supports the implementation of strategic foresight in state and district-level engagements and collaborates with colleagues in implementing insights from the future of learning.

A graduate of the University of Houston's Master of Foresight program, Jason is also a fellow in the Royal Society for the encouragement of the Arts, Manufactures and Commerce (the RSA) and a board member for the Association of Professional Futurists (APF) and Write Pittsburgh (Write PGH).